

Indiana Department of Revenue

News Release

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
July 26, 2004

Contact: Cathy Henninger
317/233-3070

Hamilton County Resident Arrested for Tax Evasion at Hancock County Business

Keith A. Henson, a Fishers resident (Hamilton County), has surrendered to a Hancock County Prosecutor's Investigator on arrest warrants issued from that office.

The warrants were the result of an investigation into Henson's business practices at Indy Auto Connection, Incorporated of Fortville (Hancock County), Indiana.

The Indiana Department of Revenue's Criminal Investigation Division had filed the charges with the Hancock County Prosecutor's Office.

Henson is charged with four counts of Failure to Remit Retail Sales Tax and four counts of Theft. All eight charges are Class D felonies. If Henson is given maximum penalties, he could be sentenced to as much as 24 years in prison and be levied with $80,000 in fines.

--30--